

EACH TOOK
A GAMEPilgrims and Yanks Divide
Honors

DOVES WIN A GAME

In Games at New York Boston Won
First 5 to 3, and New York Won
Second 1 to 0—Cincinnati's Luck
Good for One Day Only.

New York, Aug. 29.—Honors were even in the double-header played between the New York and Boston teams of the American league at American league park yesterday. The first game was all Boston's, the team eating only one hit for 11 runs and a total of five scores, while New York made only five hits, three scores, and was down in the error list for four misplays. Batteries for Boston, Morgan and Shaw; for New York, Orth and Thomas.

The second game was a pitcher's battle from the start, and ended one to nothing in favor of New York. New York made a total of seven hits to Boston's four. New York's error column was clear, while Boston was charged with one misplay.

Yesterday's American League Games.

At New York, (first game) Boston 5, New York 3; (second game) New York 1, Boston 0.
At Cleveland, Cleveland 5, Chicago 0.
At Detroit, Detroit 4, St. Louis 3.

American League Standing.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Detroit	68	44	.607
Philadelphia	67	45	.598
Chicago	70	48	.593
Cleveland	67	49	.578
New York	53	60	.469
Boston	51	66	.436
St. Louis	47	68	.410
Washington	32	77	.294

Doves Win a Game.

Boston, Aug. 29.—The Doves turned the tables on the Reds yesterday at the South End grounds and evened the deficit of Tuesday by taking the game with a 5 to 4 score. Honors in the hitting line were about even, the Reds getting Pfeffer for 11 hits, while the Doves met Coakley's deliveries for a total of 12. Batteries for Boston, Pfeffer and Needham; for Cincinnati, Coakley and McLean.

Yesterday's National League Games.

At Boston, Boston 5, Cincinnati 4.
At Brooklyn, Chicago 6, Brooklyn 4.
At New York, New York 8, St. Louis 2.
At Philadelphia, Pittsburgh 7, Philadelphia 1.

National League Standing.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Chicago	86	31	.735
Pittsburgh	67	47	.587
New York	67	47	.587
Philadelphia	62	52	.544
Brooklyn	54	62	.466
Cincinnati	48	68	.413
Boston	42	72	.368
St. Louis	35	85	.292

FORMER VALET OF KING DIES IN JAIL.

Walter Donisthorpe Once Served Edward—Stole a Coat in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29.—Walter Donisthorpe, alias Wilson, a former valet of King Edward VII, died this morning at the house of correction. He was 66 years old. On June 18 Wilson appeared in the police court on the charge of having stolen a coat. He admitted the charge, told the court he was a physical wreck, and asked for a year's sentence so that he might be straightened out. The court gave him six months.

After he went to prison his record became known. He told his fellow prisoners that he was the son of the Rev Fred Donisthorpe of Lynton, Leicester, England, but had acquired the morpaine habit and was now a wreck.

NEW YORK'S BUDGET
UP TO $140,000,000.

Jump of $10,000,000 a Year Now The Regular Thing in City Expenses.

New York, Aug. 29.—The estimates of the heads of city departments will, it is expected, call for a budget for the year 1908 of not less than $140,000,000. They have all been received, except that of the board of education which is expected before the end of the week.

The total budget for the current year for city and county expenses was $130,421,505, which was a gross increase over 1906 of $15,616,015, and a net increase of $10,616,015, the sum of $3,000,000 having been provided for deficiencies of tax collector next year will be about the same as the increase for 1907 over 1906.

BURNS $2,500 ROLL
THEN KILLS SELF.

Threw Diamonds in Sewer, Calls a Witness to His Act, Fires Fatal Shot.

Webster City, Ia., Aug. 29.—Carl Presby, a theatrical man, built a bonfire of $2,500 in bills yesterday, threw his diamond rings and shirt studs into the sewer and then notified friends in the lobby of the Park hotel that he was going to commit suicide.

Going across the street to the park he called to passerby to watch him, drew a revolver and shot himself in the head, falling dead.

CORTELYOU OFFERS
$5,000,000 A WEEK.

Plan to Relieve Wall Street By Regular Deposits Until October.

New York, Aug. 29.—It is reported in banking circles here yesterday that Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou plans to relieve the money market by depositing the deposit of no less than $5,000,000 weekly, and continuing until the middle of October.

Official announcement of the treasury department's plan is expected today.

Pure Blood
Hood's Sarsaparilla

Absolutely necessary for mental and physical health and strength, vitality, vigor and vim, is certain if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ENGLAND AND SPORT.

Why Has Britain Fallen So Badly This Year?

A long and serious indictment of British youth, and especially the youth of the upper classes, has been framed by two correspondents of the London Telegraph and by the editor himself. The charge is "slackness," a term which is intended to signify a general nervelessness, want of tone and lack of energy and ambition.

The astonishing decline in British supremacy in sports is the occasion of the charge, and a glance at the list of present "championships" will show that it has some foundation.

At Henley the Belgian crew for the second time took the grand prize in rowing. The sculling championship belongs now to Australia, and so too does the highest honor in singles at lawn tennis. In court tennis a young American has just defeated the best English amateur player. A Frenchman has won the golf championship from the British defender; foot ball teams from South Africa and New Zealand have carried everything before them, including the ball. A South African cricket team has disposed of some of the best of the English country teams. Miss Sutton of California has won the lawn tennis singles for women, and with another American, Mr. Beale Wright, has helped to win the mixed doubles. The Germans and the Americans have beaten the English at yachting, and swimming championships are in the United States and Australia, pole vaulting in Sweden, rifle shooting in Canada.

This, indeed, is a sorry record for the nation which, with justice, has assumed to be the leader in all outdoor sports. The trouble may be "slackness," as the correspondents of the Telegraph believe, but very likely it should be taken into account that the vim exhibited and the operation made by him who wishes to win a title are greater than are usually put forth by him who merely has to defend it.

Next year the Olympic games are to be held in London. It will be interesting to see whether England regains some of her lost championships.—Youth's Companion.

CONCERNED OVER OUR FORMER PRESIDENT

New York Friends Think Seriousness of Cleveland's Health Minimized.

New York, Aug. 29.—Friends in this city of ex-President Grover Cleveland are concerned over the announcement from Princeton, N. J., that he had given up all hopes of leaving his home there for his customary summer vacation in New Hampshire, because of the state of his health. They fear his condition is more serious than the doctors will admit.

Mr. Cleveland has been troubled with attacks of acute indigestion for a number of years, and each attack has been more severe than the one that was before. The present attack came as he was about to leave for his summer home. His physicians have prescribed rest and quiet. Mr. Cleveland, therefore, denies himself to all visitors.

BOY KIDNAPPED
FOR RANSOM FOUND.

Black Hand Society Unable to Extort Money Returns Son to Brooklyn Man.

New York, Aug. 29.—Michael Callia, the six-year-old son of Giovanni Callia, a Brooklyn barber, living at 17 McDougall street, who was kidnapped on July 23 and held for ransom by members of the Black Hand society, was found at 1 a. m. yesterday on the up-town platform of the elevated station at Sixty-fifth street and Second avenue, this city.

The lad was left there by a middle-aged man at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. The ticket chopper saw the man and boy pass through at that hour. Three hours later the boy was seen sitting alone on one of the benches of the station and was turned over to the police.

300 LIVES LOST.

13,000 Houses Burned in the Kakodate, Japan, Fire.

Tokio, Aug. 29.—The conflagration at Kakodate last Monday destroyed 13,000 houses, including all the foreign consulates, excepting the American consulate, and most of the public buildings. Three hundred lives were lost.

BRITISH STEAMER IS MISSING.

The Nicaraguan Left Norfolk June 8th for Dublin.

London, Aug. 29.—The British steamer Nicaraguan from Port Tampa June 3d and Norfolk June 8th for Dublin, has been posted at Lloyd's as missing.

$3,000,000 GOLD SENT TO GERMANY.

New York Firm Makes Great Shipment in Two Weeks' Period.

New York, Aug. 29.—An engagement of 200,000 in gold for export to Hamburg, Germany, on Thursday was made yesterday by Muller, Schuller & Co. This together with other engagements by this firm within the past two weeks, making their total shipments about $3,000,000.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Westchester, Pa., Aug. 28.—Judge Butler yesterday sentenced Dr. Benjamin Holbrook, who was convicted of robbing schoolhouses and railway stations, to five years' imprisonment. Dr. Holbrook by day was a well-known courteous physician. By night the doctor became an audacious burglar.

Sam Langford's First.

Boston, Aug. 28.—Sam Langford made his first appearance in the ring since his return from England at the Winslow Athletic club in Chelsea last night, having made the better of Larry Temple in a ten-round bout. According to law there was no decision.

SAMUEL J. SMALL.

President of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

President of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

M. THOMAS' TEAM WON

Jeffersonville Defeat Italians by Score of 8 to 7

GAME CLOSE AND EXCITING

Gabelloni Touched for 14 Safe Hits, While Thomas Was Touched for 11—Each Team Credited With Five Errors.

Mr. Thomas and his Jeffersonville base ball team of hard hitters defeated the Italian Athletic club yesterday afternoon at Rangers' field by a score of eight to seven. The game was close and interesting throughout and in the last inning was even exciting. The Jeffersonville team hit Gabelloni for 14 safe ones, while the redoubtable Thomas was touched up for 11 drives. Each team was credited with five errors.

Jeffersonville started off in the first inning with a triple by Sharples. Raymore got first on Mariani's error at first and stole second. Vescott followed with a clean single and scored both runners.

The second was the Italian's inning, when they proceeded to bang everything that Thomas threw them, until two doubles and four singles had netted five runs.

Again in the third, Jeffersonville scored a run. Vescott singled to center, stole second and scored on Marsh's single over third. And in the fourth Thomas, aided doubtless by his peculiar style of batting, led off with a double. Maurice singled and stole second, both scoring on Sharples's single. At this time Jeffersonville seemed to be the favorite, for in the next inning they scored two runs, neither earned. Marsh walked. Baker got first on a fielder's choice. Gabelloni hit W. Maurice filling the bases. Thomas singled, scoring Baker and Marsh. C. Maurice followed with a double scoring W. Maurice. This ended the scoring for Jeffersonville with the score eight to five.

In the ninth, the Italians started out to win the game and should have at least tied the score. Colombo was hit by the pitcher and Comoli followed with a triple which looked like a home run. And here was one of the features of the game, which was Comoli's slide to third. It should have been taken as a model in the future. Then with two out B. Mariani got a base on balls and although there was a man on third, eluding to first and refused to go down. But this was as he said, the fault of the coach. But if he had gone down he could have scored on Ross's single, as he did, he only reached third. A. Mariani struck out, leaving the game to Jeffersonville, eight to seven.

The features of the game were the fielding of Nicora in three instances, when he captured some difficult line drives; the catching of Comoli, aside from a few passed balls, and the heavy hitting of the Jeffersonville team as a whole.

ITALIAN ATHLETICS.

	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Nicora, I f	5	0	1	2	0	0
Scampini, c f	5	0	1	2	0	0
Colombo, r f	4	0	1	0	1	0
Comoli, c	5	2	6	0	0	0
Cella, s	4	1	3	5	1	0
Gabelloni, p	5	1	2	0	4	0
B. Mariani, 3 b	4	1	2	2	0	0
Rossi, 2 b	5	1	3	1	2	1
A. Mariani, 1 b	5	0	1	0	1	2
Totals	42	7	11	27	14	5

JEFFERSONVILLE.

	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Sharples, 2 b	5	1	2	4	0	1
Raymore, c f	5	1	12	1	0	0
Vescott, 3 b	5	1	3	2	1	0
Marsh, s	4	1	2	0	0	0
Jacques, 1 b	5	0	1	3	0	1
Baker, r f	5	1	1	1	0	1
W. Maurice, 1 f	4	1	1	0	0	0
Thomas, p	5	1	2	2	0	0
C. Maurice, c f	5	1	3	2	0	0
Totals	44	8	14	27	4	5

THE SCORE BY INNINGS.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Totals
Jeffersonville	2	0	1	2	3	0	0	0	0	8
Italians	0	5	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	7

Summary: Earned runs, Jeffersonville 4, I. A. C. 6; two-base hits, Thomas 3; Vescott, Gabelloni 2; Comoli, C. Maurice; three-base hits, Sharples, Comoli; first base on balls, Gabelloni 2, off Thomas 2; struck out by Gabelloni 4, by Thomas 11; left on bases, Jeffersonville 11, I. A. C. 1; passed balls, Comoli 5; first base on errors, Jeffersonville 4, I. A. C. 4; hit by pitcher, W. Maurice, Colombo; time, 1:55; umpire, Vic Brown; scorer, Phillips.

ARTHUR MURRAY.

Brigadier general and chief of artillery in the United States army and originator of many improvements in military matters.

SENATION AT PORTLAND

Delegate Offers Criticism of Roosevelt

INSISTS UPON ACTION;

Resolution Tabled by Association—Bryce's Address Feature of Session—Nominating Committee Reports the New List of Officers.

Portland, Me., Aug. 29.—The final session of the American Bar Association convention was thrown into an uproar yesterday afternoon by the attempt of George Whitelock, a Baltimore attorney, to put through a resolution denouncing President Roosevelt for interfering with the judiciary. It was Alton B. Parker, president of the association, a former chief judge of the New York state court of appeals, and Roosevelt's rival at the last presidential election, who finally quieted the confusion and laid the measure on the table.

The Whitelock resolution expressed in scathing terms censure of the president for his criticism of Judge Humphrey's decision in the beef trust case. Repeated attempts were made to shut off Mr. Whitelock's remarks, but he kept on talking. He declared that the judicial decision in the beef trust matter was final and entitled to as great respect as a federal statute. The president's action was unprecedented, he said, as an executive communication.

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

WHICH ARE TRUTHFUL AND WHICH CRUEL AND TREACHEROUS.

Northerners have an inviolable tendency to assign virtue or goodness to the fair complexion, wickedness or falseness to the dark. If one could rely upon the test of novels, it might be argued that this prejudice is weakening—for the villain, whether male or female, is sometimes blond nowadays and the heroine brunette. One might almost venture to say that it was never so formerly. Perhaps there is no sound reason for thinking that the blue-eyed are truthful, honest and loving—in the sense of affection and constancy—rather than the brown.

But the striking reports on the association of complexion and disease in hospitals which Dr. Beddoes suggested long ago and Dr. Shrubsole, foremost among many now in carrying out, have a bearing on the point. They prove that dark hair and eyes are supplanting the light in this country—a fact which all thoughtful persons have observed. But also they demonstrate the reason—which is, shortly, that the blond are constitutionally unfitted to endure the conditions of our life, and actually perish in the first atmosphere and the barbarism of the slums. Adults enter the hospital in proportion far too great and children die. They must have fresh air, wholesome exercise and decent surroundings to keep in health. But these are the conditions of rustic life, which, as universal experience in all ages agree, preserves it from degenerating into such virtues as simplicity, truthfulness and honesty, which town life, favored by the dark, corrupts.

Upon the other hand, the brown-eyed people assert that the fair are treacherous and cruel. This is a common belief in Italy, where it might be traced to a popular reminiscence of the blond negroes who ravaged that hapless country from generation to generation. But it is much older. Plutarch cites a contemporary epigram passed upon Cato the Censor, who was red-headed and gray-eyed, which shows that it was current even then. And it is an article of faith all through the east.

Sir Edward Malet tells in his biography how he once called at Alexandria and the population assembled, believing him to be the new governor of Cyprus. To his dragoman he expressed a hope that they were favorably impressed by his appearance at any rate, but the dragoman honestly replied that it was not so—a blue-eyed governor they thought must be harsh and cruel. And he added that the feeling is general all through the Levant. By the famous code of Manu, an orthodox Hindu is flatly forbidden to marry a woman with gray eyes or red hair—perhaps for this reason, though none is assigned. In all cases it may be that a tradition of ruthless invaders from the north has caused the prejudice, since many Afghans and many Persians of the wilder tribes are fair—not to mention the British in modern times. But that is an assumption.—Pall Mall Gazette.

OLDEST TROOP.
Descendant of Famous Philadelphia Light Horse of 1774.

The oldest organization in the United States that has maintained a continuous active military existence having taken part in every war, from the Revolution to the one with Spain. Such, in brief, is the proud record of the 1st Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, organized Nov. 17, 1774, by twenty-eight young members of the first families as the Troop of Light Horse, pledged to the side of the Colonies in the inevitable conflict with Great Britain. Most of the present company have already won spurs by Spanish War service and subsequent strike duty. They wear but slightly modified as a full dress uniform the military garb of the troop of 1824, and they are proud of it. But they are perfectly at home in plain blue and khaki.

Since its foundation nearly 133 years ago, the troop has enrolled 1,084 members, all, according to an unbreakable rule, enlisted as privates, and without that time nineteen captains have been chosen from its own ranks. There are now 212 members on the active and retired list.

The troop was in service as a volunteer command throughout the War of Independence. It paraded under command of Capt. Markoe, in a review by Gen. Washington, June 30, 1775, and took part, under Capt. Morris, in all military operations in the vicinity of Philadelphia. It was engaged in the battles of Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine and Germantown, and was honored by Gen. Washington with a personal letter of thanks in 1777 and again in 1780.

In the second war with Great Britain the troop was in service, under Capt. Ross, for four months in 1814 in Maryland. In the war with Mexico the troop did not take part as a body, as no volunteer cavalry commands were accepted. In the Civil War the troop, under command of Capt. James, was the only volunteer cavalry accepted under the first call of President Lincoln. It took part in the Porto Rico expedition under Gen. Brooke, and was the first volunteer troop to be landed on the island—Philadelphia North American.

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

The event of the convention was the annual address of British Ambassador James Bryce on "The Influence of National Character and Historical Environment on the Development of the Common Law."

President Parker gently advised the introducer to withdraw, the resolution, but Mr. Whitelock refused to do so, and finally it was laid on the table by a big vote.

SENATION AT PORTLAND

Delegate Offers Criticism of Roosevelt

INSISTS UPON ACTION;

Resolution Tabled by Association—Bryce's